OGT has earned its mark as one of the most rapid growing shipping companies in Greece. Driven by a strong vision, we deliver exceptional customer service and solutions that meet a diverse range of needs.

OGT is committed to operate in accordance with the highest standards of quality and safety in the marine transportation industry.

Safety of human life and the protection of the environment are primary concerns of the company, and high quality personnel, equipment and procedures are essential to ensure that every OGT voyage is a safe voyage:

- The use of illegal drugs and alcohol abuse is prohibited aboard the vessel.
- OGT is committed to providing a safe workplace ashore and afloat, and encourages all employees to identify potentially unsafe conditions or practices and to undertake corrective measures.
- OGT will encourage personnel to update their knowledge and understanding, and up-grade their qualifications and develop their careers.
- OGT is committed to protecting and preserving resources, preventing pollution and continually improving management.
- OGT will always meet applicable shore side and at-sea environmental regulations and requirements including those of the flag administrations, port states and international conventions.
- OGT will consider environmental issues in all design and development projects.
- OGT recognizes the need both for effective measures to avoid pollution incidents and for contingency planning to ensure adequate response to pollution incidents.
- OGT will cooperate with maritime organizations and government, trade and industry associations to achieve highest standards of safety and environmental protection
- OGT will explore and implement programs that challenge the company to continually improve environmental management and prevention of pollution.
